MINE WORKERS ABANDON PLAN FOR INCREASE

Soft Coal Men Will Ask Renewal of Present Scale

TAKE MEDIUM STAND

President Lewis, of United Mine Workers Says They Do Not Desire a Strike

Indianoplis, Feb. 14—Leaders of the miners organization, with their backs pressed to the wall by operators bent on lowering wages and weakening the power of the United Mine Workers of America, are preparing to take an appeal for public support by standing for continuance of the present soft coal wage rates and by taking a moderate, conservative position in general.

They realize that if the worse comes from their controversy with the operators, that is a strike, the odds will be against them. They know, too, that whatever arrangements they may be able to make a week from today with the railroad workers the odds will still be against them. And if the public opinion goes against them heavily they would force certain defeat in a strike.

That accounts for the following Statement issued at 6 oclock yesterday evening by John L Lewis, president of the miners' organization, on the eve of the meeting of the convention of 2,000 delegates that will determine the miners' policy:

The United Mine workers do not desire a strike. We propose to do everything possible in a proper way to prevent such an occurrence. I feel sure that when the convention has finished its work the public will realize this fact.

Mr Lewis did not say there would not be astrike. He only said he fas trying to avoid one. Everyone here realizes strong possibility of a general strike—the more level-headed men with regret and foreboding, the more hot-headed with a certain passionate desire to come to grips with the employers, to whom they believe to be determined to go farther than immedinte wage reductions and to destroy the miners' great and hitherto powerful union.

ENJOYABLE PARTY

Daughters of Confederacy Entertainment Well Patronized

One of the most successful card parties and dances given this season was held last night in Odd Fellows' Hall under the auspices of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The affair was attended by a large gathering and was greatly enjoyed.

The hall was prettily decorated with red and white buntine, Confederate flags and palms and presented a pretty picture. Cards were enjoyed from 8 till 10 o'clock, and the successful contestants were awarded many handsome prizes.

Dancing followed and was concluded at midnight. Music was furnished by the Ilch rchestra. During the progress of the dancing punch was served and the ladies also sold flowers. All attending expressed themselves as highly pleased with the entertainment and hope that in the near future the Daughters of the Confederacy may give another such affair. Mrs. Kenneth W. Ogden was general chairman of the committee on arrangements.

THIRTEEN GOT SCHOOL PLANS

Included in List of Contractors are Three Alexandrians

Bids For Seventeen Room School Building to be Opened February 25th

Thirteen contractors and builders thus far have secured plans and specifications for the construction of the new public school building from the office of E. C. Dunn, city engineer. Among those who have obtained the plans are three local contractors. Outside contractors who also have received plans are from Washington, Richmond, Charlottesville and other places.

The bids for the building will be opened at 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Feb. 25th, in the office of the city engineer. The proposed new school building will contain a total of 17 rooms and will be erected on the Alexandria High School lot. Council also has before it a resolution appropriating $85,000 for the new school

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

Washington, Feb. 14.—Approval of the President was all that was needed today to cause final decision of the Republicans of the Finance and Ways and Means Committees to a plan for payment of the soldier bonus through a bond issue or a series of bond issues.

Members of the two committees are hopeful that the President will approve the plan, but not certain. They know that Secretary Mellon is irrevocably opposed to the plan and they fear he will be able to persuade the President against it. Sometime ago the President was committed to the raising of taxes to pay for the soldier bonus, but after the situation had been thoroughly discussed with him he was inclined to change his mind and favor the bond issue scheme.

"I think the President was impressed with the idea," said Chairman Fordney of the Ways and Means Committee. "eH did not say he would approve it, but it was obvious that he was not so strongly set on raising the bonus money through taxation."

Some eighty American soldiers who left the American Expeditionary Forces to enlist in the Spanish army in its war against Morocco, are to be brought back to the United States. According to reports reaching this country, these soldiers have suffered many privations at the hands of the Spanish officers and have been making strenuous efforts to get out of the Spanish army and return to their own country. Through the efforts of the American Red Cross in cooperation with the U. S. Shipping Board, arrangements have been made for transporting the American soldiers from Cadiz, Spain, where they are now quartered in barracks to Cherbourg, France, where they will take ship for passage to America.

The United States government might be a very powerful business organization but it does not handle matters with anything like the dispatch of private concerns. Inquiry at the Postoffice Department today developed the fact that it will probably be two weeks at least before the U. S. Civil Service Commission certifies the three names which stood highest on the list for the position of postmaster at Alexandria. The examination was held on December 20 last, and it would seem that it would not take so long a time to examine the papers and qualifications of the candidates who presented themselves for examination.

"You know this is the government," was the comment of a postal official when surprise was expressed at the delay on the part of the Civil Service Commission.

China's deep appreciation of the results of the Washingtgon conference, which had as one of its aims the settlement of the problems of the Far East, was voiced today by Dr. Chung Hui Wang, Chief Justice of

CIVIL WAR IS THREATENED IN ERIN IS REPORT

Evening Standard of London Says Military Preparations Under Way

RIOTING CONTINUED

Twelve Killed and Twenty Wounded In Belfast—Gunmen Are Keeping Under Cover

London, Feb. 14.—The Irish situation, since the recent raids over the Ulster border, is steadily becoming worse, and is causing grave alarm in official circles in London.

Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary for the Colonies, declared in the House of Commons yesterday that the shooting of the Ulster special constables at Clones had greatly aggravated the situation.

It is stated by Evening Standard that Erin is on the brink of civil war, and a member of the Government is quoted as saying that, while the Government hesitates to do anything that the Sinn Feiners could interpret as provocative, swift military preparations have already been made to prevent an armed invasion of Fermanagh and Tyrone.

Much significance is attached, in the light of recent events, to the suspension of evacation of British troops from Southern Irish ports. The Irish Office explains that the suspension was ordered pending a decision regarding the extent of reinforcements to be sent to Ulster. Sir James Craig Ulster Premier has announced that the Ulster garrison of British troops is to be increased from the present number of 10 battalions to 14.

Week-end rioting in Belfast was continued yesterday, the death roll from Saturday being about 12 killed and at least 20 wounded.

PRESIDENT WILL GIVE HIS VIEW ON BONUS ISSUE

White House and Capitol at a Loss to See Way Out

BORAH OPPOSES BILL

Says Additional Taxes at This Time to Pay Soldier Bonus Would be Dangerous.

Washington, Feb. 14.—With the decision regarding a bond issue now resting with the President, who is expected to acquaint Congress leaders with his views following the Cabinet meeting today, the fate of soldier bonus legislation was in doubt last night.

The bonus bill controversy today produced a situation involving both the White House and the Capitol and here are its high lights:

There were reports that tomorrow President Harding may again advise postponement of bonus legislation because of the protests against additional taxation and the present deadlock in Congress over ways to meet the bonus payments.

Only a bond issue seems left to the Administration money raisers The taxation scheme of the House Ways and Means Committee is practically dead. It seems to be a bond issue or nothing, and Secretary Mellon is opposed to a bond issue.

Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, made a scathing attack today on the bonus legislation idea. The Idaho Senator, in a Senate speech, said the country was no better off today than when the President sidetracked the bonus bill last July and it would be dangerous to impose additional taxes at this time. Senator Borah predicted that if a bonus bill is passed it will constitute a mere 'promise' to pay and funds will not be provided for by the same bill.
by the same bill.

Members of the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means Committees again conferred over the vexatious question and adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

It was said that by this hour the committee expects to hear whether the President would approve an issue of short-term bonds to meet the bonus payments. Congress has been so deluged by protests against the eight-way taxation bill prepared by the Ways and Means Committee that it seemed apparent today that no such bill could get through, even though the Senate leaders accepted the House plan. The Senate leaders, however, already have said they could not stomach the House taxation scheme.

The President doubtless will present the entire bonus problem to the Cabinet today. There is no question that it is causing grave concern to Administration leaders, who see in the situation a case of "We are damned if we do and damned if we don't."

While the Finance Committee worried over redeeming pledges of a bonus bill when there are no funds available, Senator Borah delivered a caustic speech in opposition to the whole program.

Senator Borah said a bonus paid to men who returned from the war physically fit and who today are well could not be defended and would mean a stinting in appropriations for the disabled soldiers. The Idaho Senator said already there has been appropriated for the disabled soldiers $1,175.000,000.

"This is but the beginning," said Senator Borah, "I expect that within 10 years we will be appropriating annually $1,500,000,000 for our disabled soldiers and this will go on for years. It will cost this Government in the long run between $75,000,000,000 and $100,000,000,000 for the care, hospitalization and rehabilitation of our veterans who came back incapacitated. There should be liberal allowances for them now and in the years to come, but I do not see how anyone con justify the payment of a bonus to a well man.

TOMORROW WILL BE DOLLAR DAY

Merchants Pledge Customers More Than Full Co-operation

All is in Readiness For First Big Bargain Day of Year—Expect Out-of-Town Shoppers

Thirty of Alexandria's progressive merchants are preparing to show the citizenry of Alexandria that their hearts are in the right place and in proof are offering previously unheard of bargains to the shoppers who will visit their stores on the first quarterly Dollar Day of 1922 which falls on tomorrow.

The merchants declare that they intend to cooperate with the buying public in the fullest sense of the word and in attestation of that declaration will give bargains, and more than bargains; selling in many instances even lower than the cost price of the goods.

A glance at the advertising sections of today's issue will cause all to stop and contemplate the low prices of many of the necessities of life. You will then clearly see the truth of the merchant's words when he says that he is trying to give his fellow citizen just a little more than his money's real worth for this one day out of many past, means much for Alexandrians

Dollar Day, for a number of years but, it is said this will mean more than any other ever held in this city. It is the day in which the merchants' hearts grow big and they take the h sumers' view point and try to do 'unto him' that which he wishes done unto himself—that is, give to the purchaser more than his money really buys Of course a merchant cannot be expected to do this charitable act more than four times in any one year, but when he does it is a duty of each one, to the merchants and to himself to see that the job is well done.

The Weather man promises a fine day and the 15th is pay day, they say that times are hard and that every cent counts and the merchants are coming across handsomely. All these conditions working togteher and in harmony makes the prediction that this Dollar Day will be the best Dollar Day ever held in the city seem already to have come true.

Not Yet Identified

No word has yet been received by the local police from the police of Atlanta, Georgia, concerning the letter sent asking them to help identify the man believed to be named Brennan, who was killed last Wednesday morning by a southbound train over the Southern Railway about two miles south of Alexandria in Fairfax county. The body is still being held at Demaine's mortuary shaud await ing identification. The police here expect to receive word shortly from Atlanta.

ACT ON WHITE WAY TONIGHT

City Council Will Dispose of Matter at Meeting

Construction Work to be Started as Soon as Measure is Adopted—Illuminate 7 Squares

When the City Council meets tonight it is expected that a report will be submitted by the committee on the proposed white way. According to reports the committee will recomend its passage and in the event this is done the proposition undoubtly will be passed tonight.

Just as soon as the city council acts these conditions working together an preparing for its installation will be begun and it will be put up just as soon as possible.

A majority of the merchants on the seven squares on King St, between Fairfax and Patrick Streets, have already signed for the affair, aggreing to pay their proportions of the cost of installation which is $2 a front foot. As hertofore stated the cost will be about $12,000 and sixty per cent will be borne by the Alexandria County Lighting Company and the remainder by the property owners or merchants along the thoroughfare proposed to be improved. The cost of the illumination will be $2,000 a year.

Bible Thought for Today

A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches, and loving favour rather than silver and gold.—Proverbs 22: 1.

ARMY AND NAVY CUT GATHERING MUCH STRENGTH

Congress Figures $200,000,000 Navy, and 100,000 Men For Army

RANK BELOW JAPAN

Figures Submitted by Secretary of Navy Call For 100,000, Enlisted Men.

Washington, Feb. 14—Coincident with the appearance of Secretary Denby yesterday before the House Naval Committee it became evident that already the "little navy" and "little army" contingents in the House are making their plans to emasculate the army and navy estimates on the assumption that the Arms Conference has ended war.

An army strength as low as 75,000 men and a cut in half of the naval estimates, meaning a naval budget of only $175,000,000 to $200,000,000, constitute the so-called economy program of certain groups. Members from the interior States, particularly the Middle West, who have gained the sympathetic ear of Representative Frank Mondell, of Wyoming, the Republican floor leader, are behind the movement for unprecedented cuts in army and navy appropriations.

Members of the House who want an adequate navy and are inclined to go slowly in cuts until the limitation program becomes actually operative say that if the proposals of the "little navy" contingent should prevail they would disrupt the 5-5-3 ratio. The proposed reduction, they assert, would mean a ratio of 5-5-2, with the United States and not Japan at the bottom of the list.

Meanwhile the small army men are beginning to talk about radical reductions. Certain suggestions go as low as 75,000 to 80,000 men instead of the present strength of 137,000 and there is much talk of an army not to exceed 100,000, However, President Harding has indicated that he will not approve legislation that reduces the army below the minimum of safety, and the President, no doubt would take a hand in the Congressional situation if required.

At the naval hearing Representative McClintic, Oklahoma, told Secretary Denby that reports were current at the Capitol that the navy appropriation would be cut to less than $200,000 000, possibly as low as $175,000,000.

"I am a big navy man myself," interpected Representative Clinton McArthur, of Oregon, "but from what I hear an attempt will be made if Congress to cut the Naval bill to $175,000,000. How it can be done I do not see."

Chairman Butler asked Secretary Denby if he thought the Arms Conference had made war less probable.

"I am certain of it," said Secretary Denby, "but until other nations have reduced their armament this country ought not to go about it too rapidly. In other words, the treaties should be ratified and made effective first."

As to the army, a formidable bloc of representatives is preparing to wage a determinaed fight for a 75,000 men limit, while others, who favor reduction, indicated they will be satisfied with a 100,000 maximum. Other factions among the House membership were said to favor a 125,000 maximum or to oppose any reduction in the present size, which under a limitation for pay of enlisted men, approximate 137,000.

HIKE TO FLORIDA

Representatives of "Stars and Stripes" Enroute to Miami, Fla., on Foot

M. Lougene Hurst and A. Lawrence Sherry, ex-service men and members of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, were in Alexandria today on a hike from Pittssburgh, Pa., to Miami Florida, on a wager, the terms of which provide that they shall hike the entire distance. They left Pittsburgh Sunday, February 5, and expect to reach Miami by April 15.

The young men are representing the "Stars and Stripes," the publication known to every ex-service man as the official publication, "for the boys and by the boys," of the A. E. F. in France, which after the war transplanted to this country, and still flourishes. Hurst and Sherry are soliciting subscriptions to this publication to pay the expenses of their trip.

They were the guests of the American Legion last night at the Monticello Hotel, and left this morning for Fredericksburg, their next stop.

John Evans, of South Lee street, is in the Alexandria Hospital, the victim of a peculiar accident. According to reports he was walking along the street Sunday when a gun which he was carrying in his pocket went off, the bullet entering his leg. He was treated at the Alexandria Hospital by Dr S. B. Moore, and is said to be getting along nicely.

IN CONGRESS YESTERDAY

Senate Proceedings

Met at noon and adjourned at 5 p. m., until noon today.

Opposing the soldier bonus proposals in a vigorous speech, Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, said the demand of former service men who are not impaired physically or mentally would embarass the government in properly taking care of the wounded and disabled.

Discussing the Mexican situation briefly, Senator King (Democrat), Utah, condemned the administration for continuing the Wilson policy of "watchful waiting" with respect to Mexico.

Under the terms of a resolution by Senator Swanson (Democrat) Virginia, an investigation would be ordered of alleged irregularities in the appointment of postmasters.

Conferences between Republican members of the finance and ways and means committees on the soldier bonus program were suspended pending a decision from President Harding on a proposal to finance the cash features of the bonus by means of bonds instead of taxes.

The treaty between the United States and Japan fixing the status of the island of Yap and covering the allocation of wireess and cable rights was transmitted to the Senate by the President.

HOUSE

Met at noon and adjourned at 5.06 p. m., until noon today.

The day was devoted to consideration of District of Columbia legislation Killed a bill making Lincoln's birthday a holiday in the District.

W. B. Mayo, engineer for Henry Ford, testifying before the military affairs committee on Mr. Ford's proposal to take over the Muscle Shoals, Ala., government power plant, declared Mr. Ford would utilize power generated by the plant in the manufacture of "parts of automobiles from raw materials." This was the first announcement that Mr. Ford purposed using the plant as an adjunct of his automobile industry.

Representative MacGregor (Republican), New York, speaking in favor of payment of the soldier bonus by means of tax on beer and light wines declared that millions of people were disgusted with prohibition and would cheerfully pay such a tax.

Representative McFadden, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the committee on banking and currency announced he had received assurance from governors of fifteen States that they favor adoption of a constitutional amendment which would prevent further issuance of tax exempt securities. Governors of six States opposed the McFadden proposal.

Abraham Lincoln was eulogized as a "marvelous man" by Representative Green (Republican), Iowa, in a prepared address to the House. He declared that the civil war President "never varied his policy, never changed a principle, never misjudged the needs of the hour and never so much as thought of shaping his course for his own political interests."

JUDGE GRANTS REQUEST OF BAR ON DIVORCES

Spirit of Committee's Bill Rule of Court Pending Passage

PRACTICE CURTAILED

State Will be Represented in All Cases—To Wait Three Months After Suit For Decree

Judge Robinson Moncure, of the corporation court, was today formally requested by the committee investigating the alleged divorce evil here to make as a rule of his court the spirit substance of the bill drafted by the committee to amend the divorce code of the state, and which is now pending in the state legislature.

J. Randall Caton, who as secretary of the investigating comittee formally presented Judge Moncure with this request making known to the latter that it is the belief of the committee that it would be of great assistance to those engaged in bringing out the enactment of a more stringent divorce law if the rule in question was put in force by the local corporation court pending the passage of the bill

It is understood from members of the committee that Judge Moncure indicated readily and very graciously his willingness to comply with the request.

Briefly the substance of the bill that attorneys filing suits shall make reasonable inquiry into the domicile requirements, the court shall appoint representives ad litem to appear in all cases as the direct representive of the commonwealth; and that no decree shall be issued until 3 months after the instiuttion of the suit.

PROGRESS ON FERRY

Report Submitted on White Way—Steamers to Stop Here—Discuss Road and Legislative Work

The chamber of commere of this city is fully alive to the situation in connection with the furloughing of members and other employees from the Washington Navy Yard, and the directors of the chamber at their meeting yesterday afternoon indicated this by mapping out plans to see that places are obtained for the Alexandrians employed at the yards who were furloughed. By plans proposed they will take care of the unemployment situation as far as the Navy Yard men living in Alexandria are concerned.

Announcement was made that 80 per cent of the merchants and property owners on the seven squares proposed to be improved by a white way on King street had signed the petition agreeing to pay $2 a front foot as their part of the cost of construction.

It also was announced that the other twenty per cent would sign as soone as city council agrees to the proposition.

The committee that is engaged in promoting the movement for a ferry between this city and the Maryland side of the river to be known as Fox's ferry reported progress in their work and the report was accepted.

This organization has been active ever since the state legislature convened in looking after bills presented of interest to the merchants and others of the city.

It was announced that plans have been perfected whereby it is hoped to hav all river steamers stop in Alexandria for both passengers and freight beginning this spring.

During the past two weeks representatives of the chamber it was announced have been in Richmond in the interests of roads and they reported having met with considerable success.

The committee in charge of the plans to use its best efforts in behalf of the construction of the Little River Turnpike road between here and Fairfax Courthouse reported that the work accomplished had been most satisfactory.

Supposed New Clue in Drowning of Miss A. H. Jones Investigated

China and one of the Chinese delegates. China benefitted greatly in the agreeents reached between the Powers, the Chinese Chief Justice declared, and the Chinese people generally are expected to approve of the action. Dr. Wang went so far as to venture the opinion that the adjustment of the Shantung and other questions may, in the end, lead to the reuniting of the Chinese Republic.

"We came to Washington empty handed and we are leaving with three treaties, all of which are in China's favor," said Dr. Wang, as he drew a sharp contract between the Washington conference and the Paris conference from which the Chinese delegation departed without signing the treaty.

How Ironized Yeast Fills Out Figure

And Puts New "Pep" and Energy in Thin, Nervous, Rundown Folks

Hundreds of thousands of people all over the country are now taking IRONIZED YEAST tablets for health with results which in many cases are actually astonishing. For thin folks to gain five pounds or more on the very first package is not unusual. Complexions blotched with pimples, etc., are very often entirely cleared up within 10 to 14 days. As for increasing "pep" and energy, apparent "miracles" are reported by folks who were formerly rundown, weak, and lacking in physical and mental vigor.

FREE! Mail coupon below for Amazing Three Day Trial Treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. Watch the Results!

Here Is The Secret!

Nature intended that you should have a well developed figure, with the clear skin, sparkling eyes, strong nerves and rugged strength that goes with it. And if you are now thin and run-down it is because certain of Nature's laws have been disobeyed. Nature requires that we get a proper amount of vitamines and iron into our systems. But these two essential elements are lacking in the modern diet. That is why so many of us are thin and run-down.

Yeast Best When Ironized

The thing to do is to supply this lack by taking with each meal two tiny IRONIZED YEAST tablets which contain in highly concentrated form, a specially cultured yeast grown under the strictest supervision for medicinal purposes—a yeast unequalled for its richness in the essential Water Soluble B vitamines. In addition it contains the correct amount of the two other vitamines—Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C—which are equally important to health. These three vitamines bring excellent results even if taken alone—but when taken with a proper amount of easily assimilated organic iron, as in IRONIZED YEAST, these results are secured often in just half the usual time!

Watch The Results!

Note how IRONIZED YEAST immediately increases your appetite—how it enables you to get real joy out of every morsel of food you eat. See how quickly it drives away pimples, blackheads, etc., and how your newly acquired "pep" makes hard work or play a pleasure instead of a task. Try IRONIZED YEAST today! Pleasant to take—will not cause gas or in any way upset the stomach. Each IRONIZED YEAST tablet wrapped air-tight in waxed sanitape when made, thus assuring 100% purity and strength. Special directions for children. Go to your druggist or mail coupon today—NOW!

WARNING!

Not all yeast will give the desired results. There are certain types of yeast which have absolutely no value medicinally. By insisting on the genuine IRONIZED YEAST, and refusing cheaper imitations or substitutes you can be sure that you are taking a vitamine tonic treatment which is unsurpassed in effectiveness, convenience and genuine health-building value.

DOLLAR DAY

Tomorrow, Wednesday, fifteenth instant, brings another of Alexandria's famous Dollar Days. This institution has become unique in this city, owing to the combined efforts of all our merchants to produce phenomenal sales based on genuine values at prices that fairly challenge competition. Starting in some two years ago as an experiment, it has steadily grown in the confidence and esteem of the people not only in Alexandria, but in her flourishing suburbs, till today it is as firmly established as a County Fair. There is no class of citizens who are more imbued with true civic spirit than the retail merchants of Alexandria. Nor is there any class to whom a Greater Alexandria will be more indebted when it shall arrive.

May tomorrow be the veritable harvest that it should be, and may the thousands who throng our streets and stores feel the content and satisfaction that always comes with the knowledge of money well spent!

GOOD ROADS BONDS

An overwhelming majority of 62,370 votes, was returned at the polls in November, 1920, in favor of the constitutional amendment permitting the General Assembly to issue bonds for road construction.

North Carolina, West Virginia, and Maryland, the three states bounding Virginia, have adopted generous road programs for 1922 and 1923, financed by bond issues. The Kentucky General Assembly has before it this year a 50 million dollar road bond measure. Tennessee has passed the preliminary legislation necessary for the issuance of state bonds in January, 1923. With the action already taken by New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware, Virginia may be left high and dry as the only state attempting to build the mileage of connected roads so overwhelmingly needed, out of current revenues.

The only logical objection to general road construction in this state would arise from an increase in taxation. If Virginia, which is the laughing-stock of the country as regards her roads, fitted for the most part only for caveman traffic, can place herself among her sister states in the line of modern road improvement without this dreaded bugbear of an additional tax rate—what possible objection, except from those of our fellow-citizens domiciled in lunatic asylums, can be urged against a bond issue?

The Virginia Good Roads Association is advocating the issuance of 5 millions of bonds in 1922, and 7 millions in 1923, at a rate of interest not to exceed five per cent. Col. Thomas B. McAdams, president of the American Bankers' Association, has made an especial study of the Virginia situation, and he says that bonds up to 50 millions can be issued without an increase in the tax-rate. Other financial authorities concur in this opinion, and it would seem to be incontrovertible. If the present Assembly shall vote the two issues mentioned, of five and seven millions respectively, the Assembly of 1924 can, after determining the value of the work done, decide as to the desirability of a further bond issue.

Under the 1922 budget, if adopted, the total amount available for 1922 highway construction will be only $4,880,000, of which $500,000 must be repaid to counties on loans made under the Robertson Act. This is in conspicuous contrast to the amounts available in North Carolina and West Virginia for state highway construction in 1922, which are between 12 and 15 millions. The highways are all to be constructed within the counties and outside of any town of more than 2,500 population. The figures show conclusively that for every dollar in taxes that the counties pay they receive four dollars in return

The average values in Virginia today are about the same as they were in Maryland ten years ago, due largely to the fact that the latter state had the vision to launch her broader scheme of road building by a bond issue in 1906. Had Virginia possessed this wise prevision in common with her sister state, she would now be millions upon millions of dollars ahead in the race for progress and prosperity.

All things considered, we emphatically endorse the program of road-building as advocated by that body of the state's most public-spirited citizens known as the Virginia Good Roads Association. Their only aim is to benefit the state and place it on a par with Maryland, West Virginia, and North Carolina. If there is a single selfish or ignoble motive in their endeavors, it has failed to disclose itself thus far. We shall urge upon our delegate and state senator that they support the measures advocated by the Association and lend it their aid in all legitimate directions.

Petersburg—At the auction sale at Camp Lee today 300 small buildings were sold at prices ranging from $25 to $250 each. Fifty officers' buildings were sold in a lump at $50 each and were purchased by Price Ray, of of Owensboro, Ky.

Fredericksburg—The Fredericksburg Post, American Legion has communicated with Dr. Kate Waller Barrett, of Alexandria, and she has consented to visit the post on February 21, and assist in the organization of the Woman's Auxillary.

VALENTINE DAY

Valentine Day February 14, is observe in commemoration of St. Valentinus, a Christian martyr who was decapitated 270 A. D. during the Claudian persecutions in Rome.

The custom of dispatching love messages on this date antedates the life of Valentinus and the tradition of its obesrvance in commemoration of the charitable and loving disposition of the saint is by many believed to be of comparatively recent invention.

The Romans on February 15, celebrated the feast of Lupercalia, and similar practices to the present day exchange of sentimental verses, were common.

There are traces in the paganism of ancient northern Europe of a custom similar to the exchange of modern valentines. Legend relates that the birds select their mates upon this day and inspire humans to lovemaking.

In the Middle Ages the exchange of gifts of garters, gloves, handkerchiefs and jewelry on Valentine Day was of general practice.

The first valentines penned, tradition asserts, were about sixty love sonnets composed by Charles, Duke of Orleans, while a prisoner in the Tower of London.

Esther A. Howland of Worcester, Mass., made the first fancy Valentines produced in this country, in 1849. She prepared half a dozen designs, patterned after a few imported from England. Her brother, a traveling salesman, secured orders for $5,000 worth of the love messages on his first trip.

Public sentiment has spken forcibly in condemnation of the so called "comic" valentine of other years and the production and sale of these has dwindled to insignificance compared to the great quantities on the market heretofore.

Gifts of flowers, candles and more substantial articles have in recent years taken the place of the lace and tinsel for love tokens of former days.

Her Second Husband—"You're always complaining! It wasn't necessary for you to remarry, you know, Madam!"

"Yes, I know I was wrong to remarry. And if my husband had been with me when you proposed, he would never have permitted it."—Le Rebiment.

Newport News—More than 1,000 men were laid off by the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., Friday, in pursuance to orders from the secretary of the navy suspending work upon all naval vessels now in course of construction until the readjustments made necessary by the provisions of the arms conference could be worked out.

Police Captain—"Why did you cut your wife up into two hundred and forty-eight pieces?"

The Culprit—"I did it in a moment of anger."—Le Rire.

What Choice Could She Make?

The man to whom she had been bound by Fate was a laborer,—rough, rugged, uncouth.
The man she loved,—her mate in every sense of the word,—it seemed could never be hers.
And then Fate, which had created this strange tangle, stepped in to straighten it out.
It's fascinating picture,—one which will hold you engrossed from start to finish.
Incidentally, it's the first serious drama ever brought to the screen without a single sub-title.

V. F. W. NEWS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 13.—Assuring the Ways and Means Committee of Congress that ten thousand members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States are already pledged to assist in a campaign to persuade all veterans to accept more helpful options under the adjusted Compensation Act rather than the cash bonus feature, National Commander Robert G. Woodside of the V. F. W. aroused the keenest interest of the Committe, which had now hitherto heard of the success of his plan for constructive aid in the reconstruction problem of the success of his plan for constructive aid in the reconstruction problem of the ex-service men. Woodside anticipated that the "Committee of Ten Thousand" would actually rach fifty thousand members, as hundreds of pledges are coming in daily.

Congress has been anxious to know what result would come from passage of the five fold Adjusted Compensation Bill. Many Congressmen have feared that almost all veterans would select the cash bonus, rather than the educational feature, the paid up insurance, the home building aid or the land settlement plan. Woodside was able to show them that the Veterans of Foreign Wars has already put the machinery of its 1,000 posts all over the country to work to explain to all ex-service men how they would benefit far more in the long run by rejecting the cash and accepting one of the permanent and constructive features of the proposed bonus law. Members of the Ways and Means Committee, asked Woodside many questions about his efforts, and Congressmen Green, Iowa, acting chairman; Hawley, Oregon, Frear, Wisconsin, and others demonstrated keen interest in the work of the V. F. W along these educational and constructive lines.

"The cash feature should be left in the bill," said Commander Woodside, "because to many unempolyed and distressed ex-service men immediate cash is the only form of aid that can be useful. But we are urging all others to accept the better options, and if the bill is passed to start buying a home or to take a paid up insurance policy, on which they can later borrow for home or business needs, without interest."

The V. F. W. Commander urged the early passage of the Adjusted Compensation Bill. So did Junior Vice-Commander Richard Seelve Jones, who also addressed the committee. He vigorously denounced those who are seeking to treat the so-called bonus bill as a political issue, or as a "raid on the treasury." "This bill," said Jones, "is two things It is a part of the war cost, an over due liability of the government to the service men, and as such should be paid. It is also a definite and helpful step in reconstruction and readjustment from war conditions. The war upset industry and labor. took men from job to army and after the war hastened to discharge them and relieve the army payroll. But it did not place them back in production from whence they came. This bill. by readjusting their service pay, will enable them to get back into productive work on a basis something like even with the men who stayed at home and earned high profits and high wages.

"The Government cannot of course equalize the wealth of its citizens, but it can and must equalize their opportunities when it has been the direct instrument of making them so totally unequal. The Veterans of Foreign Wars hope that Congress will treat this bill not as a political proposition, but as a definite and useful move toward stabilizing conditions in our country, a fair and just useful measure both for the veterans and for the whole people."

RECOVER FOUR MORE BODIES

Lexington Hotel Victims Now Number 12—Five Bodies Unidentified

R. Kieser and E. O. Taylor Unearthed Saturday—Only Person Unaccounted For is E. J. Cox

Richmond, Va., Feb. 13.—With the finding of four bodies Saturday, two or them at 8 o'clock at night, the death list of the Lexington Hotel fire, which swept the hotel and several adjoining buildings early Tuesday morning, grew to twelve. The two found last, both easily recognized, were identified as those of R. Kiesser, a traveling salesman from Columbus, Ohio and E. O, Taylor, Jr., a lumberman, from Townesville, N. C.

The body of Kieser was identified from letters found on his person, while that of Taylor was recognized by Dr. B. T. Blackwell, a local dentist, who stated that he had done the dental work on the victim's teeth. He also said that he was a personal friend of Taylor and that he had formerly been the dead man's roommate at college.

Workmen discovered the bodies in the areaway between the Lexington hotel and the Branch, Cabell & Co. building. They were lying alongside of each other and Taylor's right arm was wound around one of Kiesers legs.

It is the supposition of the police that the men jumped wrom the window of their rooms on the third floor to the roof of Branch, Cabell & Co., and it is believed that they were knocked from the lower roof to the ground when the wall collapsed.

The finding of these bodies, according to the police, clears up the mystery of the two men whom J. L. Pettus, owner of the hotel, said he saw jump from the third floor while he was making his way down the fire escape.

Keisser had dressed before jumping from the building, and in his pocket was found letters and $40.11 in money. He also had an opal ring on his finger. Taylor's was covered only by underwear, but a brown overcoat was found lying alongside of him.

This leaves but one man to be accounted for, according to the records of the police. The other victim is believed to be E. T. Cox, part owner of the hotel, whose body as yet has not been recovered.

An unidentified troso was found at four o'clock in the afternoon, in a section where laborers supposedly had finished excavation work.

Early Saturday laborers found a body later identified as that of Wilma H. Kennon, of Gasburg, Brunswick County. Dental work done by Dr. William H. Street, 321 West Franklin Street, was the basis for identity.

Five blackened charred bodies still are unidentified in Woody's undertaking establishment, and it is believed positive identification never can be made because of their condition. Four of these are headless and limbless.

One of the unidentified bodies is believed to be that of Sam Ashe, traveling showman, who had a concession at the Howitzers' Armory in Richmond, during a cirus which closed last night. His business partner, a Mr. Bell, hoped to identify the body by a ring on a finger of the left hand. None was found. The hand was doubled into a fist and police declare it is improbable the ring was burned off. Ashe's son, a marine at Quantico came here to identify the body, but collapsed when he arrived at the undertaking parlors, and refused to review the remains. The ouly other clue to identify are upper false teeth. Several water-soaked, stained and partly charred letters addressed to Ashe were found near the body.

Another of the unidenified torsos is thought by Police Chief Sherry and Colonel William M. Myers, Director of Public Safety, to be the remains of Felix H. Poirier, street contractor, of Yonkers, N. Y. A battered, blackened piece of metal bearing the numerals "55" the number of the room occupied by Mr. Poirier, was found several feet from the body.

Two of the unidetntified torsos may be those of any of the three remaining persons unacounted for.

Lend a Hand

Everyone has read with horror of the frightful conditions that exist in Central and Eastern Europe. Famine and the plague alike claim victims. Human beings, driven insane by the hunger madness, became ravening wolves. The picture might be enlarged in a manner that would revolt even the most hardened person, but there is no need of that. When famishing human beings devour their own kind, words are futile.

This thing must be stopped. The fact that the stricken country is Russia does not count. The fact that the people may be to blame in a measure, for the doom they have brought upon themselves is nothing in their hour of need.

They must be helped. All must lend a hand. This is no time to stop to take account of things, to weigh matters, to see just what we can do. It is a time to act.

No matter how small it may be; Give. Alone, little may be accomplished, but together a great deal may be done. Russia can be rescued, the starving fed, the fever stricken restored, little children saved.

Nor can this country hope to prosper until this plague spot is wiped out. That is an economical, commercial fact. The old world must be cured of its ills, physical and mental. and we must play the good Samaritan. Our Jewish friends have never been niggardly when called upon to aid any Christian enterprise. Nor should we fail them in their hour of need. Give generously to the relief fund. Help raise Virginia's quota.

Lend a hand.

TAYLOR SUSPECT ELUDES POLICE

Watch Kept on Hollywood Home Fails of Any Results

Detectives Are Now Watching Man's Usual Haunts in and Around Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 14—The suspect whose home in Hollywood the police are closely guarding apparently has left the city.

The detectives who guarded his house all through the night left their vigil yesterday morning and four others relieved them. The suspect, said to be L. D. "Red," Daily, had not come home.

Other detectives were looking through Hollywood and all the rest of Los Angles for him yesterday. He seems to be the only quarry they have. All his known haunts are being visited and watched. His friends are being questioned. There is no trace of him.

District Attorney Thos. Lee Woolwine, conducting an examination of all the witnesses, and the intimates of the dead man, would not comment on the Daily angle

Neither would he say that witness he intends to call next. His office was unoccupied today. The District Attorney was resting. He has been working on the Taylor case for long hours, has given all day and part of the night to the matter, after coming out of the hospital, and it has been a strain on him.

He has not yet called the big men of moviedom into his office, men whose names have been persistently mentioned in the revelations growing out of the murder, who have not bothered by the polite police. He has not yet said that he would call them.

Mr. Woolwine does not belive there is a barrier of silence erected to keep the investigators from learning the truth about the murder and about the moving-picture director. But he admits he is "up against a stone wall," "walking in blind alleys that lead into utter darkness."

He has no evidence so far against anyone, he declares no theories that will exactly fit all the details he has been able to gather out of the welter of rumors.

"You refuse to buy me a single hat, and then you tell me that while you were in the Congo you had a harem of half a dozen wives. Oh! la! la! How could you afford to pay for the clothes of all those women?"

The Returned Soldier—"Oh, that was easy. When they wished to dress up, they simply put rings in their noses."—Le Regiment.

Religious Instruction In Schools

Week day religious instruction for public school children in the church schools of their parents choice has been legally approved by the educational authorities of fifteen states in the United States, according to a report which has just been presented to the National Council of the Episcopal Church, at 281 Fourth Avenue. N. Y.

"Few educational plans to correct the lowering of ethical and moral standards can equal this movement in promise of achievement," says the report, which cites, as an illustration of the practical working of the plan, the fact that in Glendale, O., the ministers of the four leading denominations—the Catholic priest, the Episcopal rector, and the pastors of the Methodist and Presbyterian Churches have signed an open letter to parents urging its adoption.

Under the plan, the grade pupils, whose parents have given their assent in writing on the card prepared for the purpose are given a period on a stipulated day, in their respective churches, where, instead of the course which they ordinarily would have had in the public school, they receive a lesson in the Bible, Christian history and morals. Markings are made for proficieny, which count on the pupils school records, and the entire course is sanctioned by the Board of Education. The taking of the course is left entirely to the will of the parents of the children.

"This drawing together of the Church and the State in cooperative work for the welfare of American children," says Rev. Dr. William E. Gardner, Secretary of the Episcopal Department of Education, "is one of the most hopeful signs of the times. At a conservative figure we now have 5000 pupils excused from school for religious education.

Mr. Sargent, who has charge of the work in our church, is the first public school superintendent to be called by a church to give his entire time to this work. It does not imply any criticism of the public school offiials have endorsed the plan. Without in any way interfering with the training of school children, the plan, in fact, supplements with a positive moral quality, the work which the public schools are doing."

The states in which school time is allotted for week day religious instruction are, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Missouri, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, South Dakota, Rhode Island, Texas, Nevada, Pennsylvania, California and Oklahoma.

DIVERSIFIED CROPS

The average small farmer who constitutes the vast majority of the 6,000,000 tillers of the soil in this country is not so hard hit as the calamity cry going the rounds would lead the rest of the people to think, in the opinion of some of the big dealers in farm properties.

It is the one crop farmer who is doing most of the wincing these experts say. They put their money in high priced land and depended on grain, cotton, tobacco or live stock They have been up against it pretty hard; but the small farmer with his diversified crops is getting along pretty well.

The notion that the whole farming population of the United States is down in the dumps because the big one crop growers have voiced their complaints so emphatically is characterized by E. A. Strout, President of the Strout Farm Agency, Inc., as "a false impression."

"What is undoubtedly true of a certain class of farmers has been made to appear as true of all engaged in farming," said Mr. Strout. "The average small farmer is pretty well off when compared with men in almost any other industry in the cities and industrial towns whose wages have given them a mighty scant living in the past year.

"As compared with them the farmer producing diversified crops, which is true of the majority, is in a pretty comfortable position.

"The high cost of labor cuts a very small figure where he is concerned, for only 7 per cent of all the farms in this country employ hired labor.

On the average dairy farm there are from eight to twleve cows and practically all the work is done by members of the owner's family. A good deal of the feed for the stock is produced on the farm and, in addition to the dairy products, he generally has eggs, poultry, etc., that can be sold as readily in the local markets as can milk, cream and butter.

"I know of one farm in Orange County, New York, which keeps ten cows and 1500 hens which produced an income of $1000 in December and one boy of 18 years did practically all the work. That farm had a good balance on the right side of the ledger every month last year.

"The price of the land is a big factor in the farmer's economic problem. Many men operating on high-priced land have suffered a setback. Many a small farmer growing sweet corn on land that cost him $35 to $50 an acre is earning more per acre on his low priced land that is the one crop dent corn farmer in Iowa on his $300 land.

"There's more than one side to this farm proposition and it is not all pessimism. There are a lot of optimists among the millions of farmers but you are not hearing much from them just now. The other fellow has the stage."

Lespedeza As a Substitute For Cotton

Lespedeza, one of the South's greatest legumes, is the title of an interesting article prepared for the Lespedeza Seed Grower's Cooperative Association, Inc., by Dr. R. E. Lewis, Bains, Louisiana, a proimnent farmer who is specializing in the growing of this profitablie crop.

While the name, Lespedeza, was supposed to have been given this plant by botanists, in 1800; it was not until 1880 that it received the attention of its merits warranted, as a commercial farm product, under the development of Col. J. B. McGehee, of Laurel Hill, Louisiana, who recognized its value as a feed for farm animals and as a soil builder, and who sang its praises for years. Its place in southern agriculture is due largely to Col. McGehee, says Dr. Lewis.

Lespedza is an annual, maturing its seed in the fall, which shatter readily and reseed the ground for the coming year. Normally, these seeds which shatter off at maturing time remain dormant until the warmth and moisture germinate them. It is the practice to plant from February 15 to May 1.

The stems and branches of the Lespedeza plant are slender and the leaves small but very numerous. A good crop will grow to the height of 15 to 18 inches, and on fertile soils 30 inches is not unknown. It is estimated that a good stand of Lespedeza will represent a ton of hay for each 6 inches of its growth.

This plant will grow on almost any of the types of soil in the cotton belt, but of course like most other plants does best on a more fertile, well drained soil. It is thought that no plant is more suitable to follow cotton, as Lespedeza brings the soil back to its former state of fertility.

The custom of seeding Lespedeza with oats has become more or less a fixer habit among the producers, as the oats, by virtue of its shade keeps down weeds and grasses and allows the Lespedeza to make rapid growth. However, just as good crops can be produced when the seed is sown alone; but seeding with oats has the advantage of giving the planter two crops from the same ground during the year, with but one cost of cultivation. Experience indicates that one bushel of seed (25 lbs.) per acre is about the right amount to be planted. It requires no inoculation, as the rough little jackets containing the seeas carry enough from the fields from which they are taken to insure perfect inoculation.

No special soil preparation is necessary, although it has been demonstrated beyond a doubt that soils well supplied with phosphates will produce the greatest growth.

The method of harvesting the hay will depend somewhat on the grade of hay desired. In any event, the chief effort should be directed to the preservation of the leaves upon the stem as they constitute a great part of the feeding value. Cutting is not started until the plants are in full bloom, and the hay should not be directed to the preservation of the leaves upon the stem as they constitute a great part of the feeding value. Cutting is not started until the plants are in full bloom, and the hay should not be cut while the dew is on or while wet from rain.

Little need be said in favor of Lespedeza hay as a feed for all kinds of stock after looking at the following comparative analyses: Timothy contains 2.8 per cent protein, 28.3 per cent carbohydrates and 1.4 per cent fats. Despedeza contains 7.6 per cent protein, 31.0 per cent carbohydrates and 1.8 per cent fats. As compared with other legume hays it has the advantage of being free from woody growth, permitting its entire consumption and is free from the extreme laxative properties which make some legume hays undesirable for work stock.

When used as a pasture with other grasses it helps to make a balanced ration and should be found in every pasture in the South, thinks Dr. Lewis. As a soil builder it ranks with other legumes.

The Lespedeza Seed Growers' Cooperative Association, Inc., of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, has done much in the way of standarizing the seed and seed prices, also in disseminaitng information in connection with the best known methods of cultivatin and harvesting. According to reports sent out from the office of the Association, orders for more than one third of the seed pooled have been received. This was on January 28, 1922, at which time the seed market had hardly opened.
